to put together what is going to be the most beautiful scene setting ever seen here.

The rehearsal tonight starts at 7:30. Tomorrow ticket committees will be busy getting the audience, which is expected to fill the house to overflowing, to purchase their tickets in time, so no one will be "left out in the cold."

NO EFFORT TO CHECK MURDERERS IN SANDOVAL

County Officers Notified of Bloody Career of Whiskey Soaked Indians Make No Move.

A letter from the Herald's correspondent at Cuba, in the Jemez mountains, received today and written on the 15th, states that Tamasa Pansa, the Apache Indian from Dulce, who killed a man and a woman, badly wounded another man and kidnapped an Indian girl, all in the course of one drunken spree, is still at large and that although the Sandoval county sheriff's office at Belenito has been notified, no effort of any kind has been made either to arrest Pansa or to stop the causes of the crimes.

Lucas Garcia, an Apache from the village of Dulce, was killed and Pedro Martinez, another Indian, was wounded in a row near J. J. Salazar's saloon in Cuba last week. The killer was Tamasa Pansa. After the shooting at Cuba, Pansa returned to Dulce where, according to a report from Durango, Colo., he killed his wife and kidnapped an Indian girl, with whom he disappeared.

The Indians assert that they got their liquor in Cuba and all the people living in the vicinity of the Salazar saloon, the correspondent says, have moved out for fear of an Indian raid. Salazar and his son are reported to have come to Albuquerque.

"This murder," concludes the add correspondent, "has been reported both to the county sheriff of Sandoval county and to the officials of Dulce. Up to this time no one has arrived here to investigate."

CONVICT ESCAPES FROM STATE CAMP

A convict named Mitchell escaped yesterday from the state road camp on the new Albuquerque-Isleta road. The local police were notified and the men have been keeping a lookout for the fugitive, but it is not deemed likely that he will appear in town.
